AZIZZA SAYS

In September, our major advocacy program, Prosper, held in Washington, DC, was an incredible success, leaving attendees truly inspired and motivated. During this event, our team passionately led dynamic discussions centered on workforce development and how we prepare our members and community for jobs that were once thought to be jobs of the future. We explored practical insights and strategies that promote long-term success in vital sectors such as transportation, education, economic development, and energy. The enthusiastic feedback and active engagement from our audience served as a robust validation of the workshop's significance and its role in shaping a more sustainable future for our workforce.

This has been an exceptional month of connecting the dots with our Women's Forum, and we proudly spotlight the outstanding Black women entrepreneurs who drive change and excellence in our community, especially during National Women's Small Business Month. Your businesses are not merely engines of economic growth; they are radiant beacons of inspiration for aspiring entrepreneurs everywhere. We are excited to come together again in March 2024 to coincide with Women's History Month!

At the Sacramento Black Chamber of Commerce, we stand in full support of your remarkable achievements and unwavering dedication. Together, we celebrate your extraordinary contributions to our city and beyond. As Black women in business, you exemplify the essence of excellence, and your impact knows no bounds. Keep pushing boundaries and serving as an inspiration to others.
